

Matthew Greenwood (2001 – 2017)

Matthew was a keen sailor, having learnt how to sail in the tropical waters of Singapore. He loved being on the water where he found it very relaxing and peaceful. He was well travelled having lived in Hong Kong and Singapore as well as the UK, and always took any opportunity on holiday to get on a boat. He was a natural at all the watersports he tried, including paddle boarding, kayaking, dragon boating and rowing on the Cam in Cambridge. He did prefer warm water though! With a few of his Hong Kong friends a few years ago, they made plans to buy a yacht together when they were older. We feel he would have been delighted to help others discover the pleasure of sailing.
